

ANN LANDERS

No Dice in Illinois

Dear Ann Landers: Now that I have read the letter from the man who wanted a Viking funeral I know I am not crazy. As you will recall, a Viking funeral is when they put the dead person in a boat, set it afire and shove it out to sea.

I am 20 and I want to be buried in a G.T.O., sitting up in the bucket seat with both hands on the wheel. I want a wild combo to play at the funeral so all my friends will be in a happy mood instead of a sad mood, which is what is wrong with most funerals in the first place.

I hope you won't tell me this is against the law because if it is, I will be pretty darned mad. After all, don't people have the right to decide what happens to their own remains? — NILES, ILLINOIS.

Dear Niles: Sorry, but you are going to be pretty darned mad because I must inform you that states have laws telling people what they can and cannot do with their remains. If you want to be buried in a G.T.O. you'll have to do it someplace else, Buddy Boy, because I have checked and it's no dice in Illinois.

Dear Ann Landers: Do you believe in fate or miracles, or could it be just a lucky coincidence that I read your column yesterday morning and it contained the advice that probably saved my son's marriage? This is what happened:

My son was married three months ago to a very lovely girl. Everything was cream and peaches until tonight when he showed up with a suitcase. I said, "What's this all about?" He answered, "Sue and I had a terrible argument and I am spending the night here — maybe several nights."

Then I remembered your column, the one where you said a mother could not let her son or daughter come home once they marry. You said if they have a fight and try to come home, they should be told, "Go to your own home, where you belong, and work out your problems."

I told my son he was not welcome, that he was a married man now and that he should go back to his wife and settle things. He was very angry with me, said I had failed him in his hour of need and that I was a rotten mother. I'll admit I cried my eyes out when he left and I wondered if maybe I had made a mistake.

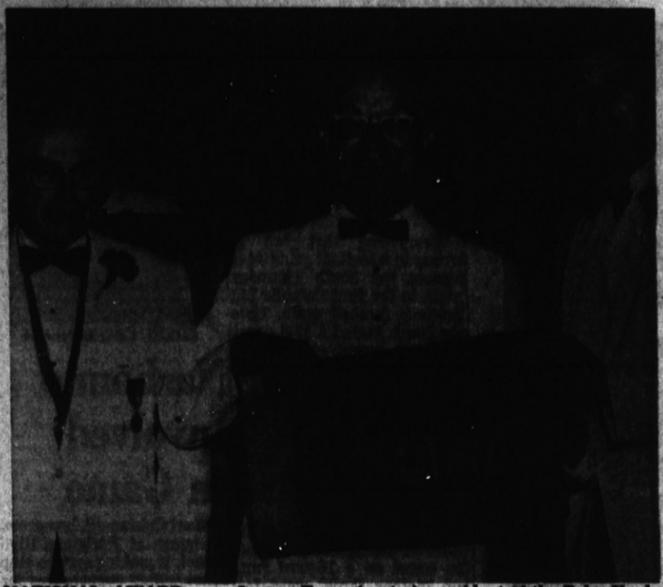

The next morning at 9:30 a.m. my son called from work. He said, "Mother, thank you for sending me home. Sue and I are going to get along just fine from now on. I know now that you were right and I want to thank you for having the guts to send me home."

So, I want to say to you, Ann, thanks a million. You are the one who deserves the credit, not me. — PENNSYLVANIA READER.

Dear Reader: Thanks for trying to give me the credit, but it is YOU who deserve it. I hand out a lot of advice, and a lot of it is ignored, I am sure. The person who is able to sort out the ideas that make sense to him, and ally them to his own life is the one who is REALLY smart.

Confidential to Need Him: You need him like Johnstown needed more rain. The man was a con artist and he proved it three different times. Forget about him while you still have your health and your looks and a few dollars in the bank.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a 10c, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin. At El Camino Redondo Man Heads Board

Harry P. McCandless of Redondo Beach will serve as president of the El Camino College Board of Trustees for the coming year as a result of his election during the annual organizational meeting of the board last week.

A long-time community leader, McCandless retired in 1963 after 28 years as superintendent of the Redondo Beach City School District. Originally appointed to the El Camino Board of Trustees in 1964 to complete the unexpired term of Foster Day, McCandless was re-elected to the post last spring.

A resident of the South Bay for the past 33 years, he and his wife of 44 years now make their home at 209 Avenue E, Redondo Beach. They have two children, Dr. Harrison McCandless of Redondo Beach and Mrs. Graham Buck of Torrance.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from Nebraska Wesleyan University, continuing his education at the graduate level, he attended the University of Nebraska, the University of Illinois and the University of Southern California where he received his master's degree.

Thief Gets Tape Player From Truck

A truck cab has looted of $500 in stereo equipment and tools after a thief pried open a window vent using a sharp tool.

An $80 stereo and $100 in tapes were taken from the truck, owned by Joseph Arrain, 23, of Ft. Wayne, Ind. Arrain reported that he had found the truck lights on in the morning, although the cab remained locked previous to the theft. An additional $250 in tools was also stolen.

Teachers Complete Seminar

Three local residents are among 88 Los Angeles City School System teachers who completed a two-week "Business in Action" seminar Friday at the Southern California Gas Co.'s Los Angeles headquarters.

The teachers attended the utility's 12th annual workshop held in cooperation with the Los Angeles Board of Education's in-service training section.

Local residents who attended the workshop are Janice S. Judd of 317 W. 220th St., a teacher at Carson High; Sandra L. Larsen of Manhattan Beach, Paul Revere Junior High; and Margaret R. McQuarrie of Manhattan Beach, Narbonne High.

DURING THE workshop, teachers were given a tour of the gas company's customers service center, watched purchasing and warehouse procedures in Pico Rivera, and visited the utility's Playa del Rey underground natural gas storage facilities.

In addition to these tours and discussions, several lectures and demonstrations were presented on topics that include personnel procedures, system rates and earnings, sales, distribution, supply and transmission, engineering and other aspects of modern business.

Carson High Additions Set

The architectural firm of Johnic, Lusby and Associates has been named by the Los Angeles Board of Education to design a $330,000 addition to Carson High School.

Preliminary plans must be completed within 60 days, according to Dr. Jack P. Crowther, superintendent of schools.

Some Gals Should Be Moved About as Cargo

There appears to be quite a difference not only in the fare but also in good taste and femininity when airlines divide their planes into first class and economy class.

To some women economy class apparently means economy of common sense where proper dress is concerned. In the "backward" section of the plane that was flying me to New York on the first leg of my journey to Italy, there were some women with rollers already in their hair, while others, as soon as their seat belts were fastened, began rolling.

Far too many were slacks of fenders. These were the types who usually haul along equally sloppy-looking, squawling little brats.

The flight from San Francisco to New York takes approximately five hours, and any woman who can't wear a dress or keep rollers out of her hair for that short time should be moved as a piece of cargo rather than a passenger.

During the flight I was reminded of the total rear look of the properly dressed woman. This includes the back of your head, your neck line, your waist, hem, hose and the backs of your shoes.

From my seat all I could see of the two women in front of me were their hands and the backs of their heads as they chatted together quietly. Neither woman was young as age goes, nor were they old women — readers of my column are never old, only more elegantly beautiful — and I discovered later when we were introduced that they were, indeed, regular readers of my column.

I couldn't take my eyes off their beautiful hands, so smooth and well cared for and with nails any woman could envy. My sharp eyes looked for rough cuticles, ragged edges and chipped polish but I saw none. Their coiffures were simple, but every hair was in place.

I could tell immediately that if they ever did wear hair rollers it would never be in public or in the presence of any gentleman, friend or stranger.

For several days after the flight I concentrated on noting the backs of your women. You'd be as surprised as I was to note how careless many of you are. And the more I looked the more shocked I was to see how many of you never bother to wash the back of your necks or ears. Ugh!

One of the most unsightly rear view accidents you women suffer is at the hemline. Keep those hems sewn and be sure there are no hanging threads or a sneaky slip showing.

Hems today are taking a beating with the do-it-yourself shortening of skirts because you do such a poor job of it.

It's worth the few extra dollars a professional dressmaker charges to get the hem absolutely even ALL around.

Whether you're taking a short flight or flying to Rome, not everyone flies first class. Many rightly feel the excessive difference in fare isn't worth the two free drinks, but there's no reason why you can't at least LOOK prima classe.
